—An abundant crop is in prospect, but what will it benefit the farmers, with all the uncertainty of tariff legislation still upon us.

—Every man in a community who pays his debt helps a dozen others to pay their debts. Money put in circulation by debt paying goes a long way toward making good times.

—P. F. Greenwood in his speech before the Democratic convention Saturday afternoon, favored fusion, on the ground that the distribution of the patronage is all there is in county politics.

—There is no longer any talk of having the Presidential term lengthened out to 6 or 8 years. The present administration has convinced everybody that there may be times when a two-year term is quite long enough.

—The July Forum will contain an interesting record of experience, literally of life behind the scenes, by Mr. Rudolph de Cordova, the well-known actor, "The Stage as a Career; An Actor's Experience." It throws a very vivid light on the actor's life, and on the character and tendency of the stage in the United States.

—The convention to nominate a Republican candidate for Congress will be held at Macon July 10. In the selection of this candidate the convention should study not the interests of the politicians, but the interests of the Republican party. If the right man is selected there is little doubt as to the result. It is time for the First District to send a representative to Congress that will represent the District instead of playing the demagogue, and drawing the salary attached to the office. No man should be nominated who cannot get the united and enthusiastic support of the party.

—Agriculture is safer than banking or manufacturing. There is no farmer of good intelligence and good health living anywhere who can not make a good living for himself and his family. That is as well as the majority of men are doing in any other pursuit. Only three per cent of men in other lines of business escape failure and only three per cent of farmers fail. The man who owns a farm and sticks to it is certain of an eventual profit. There is practically no more land to be added to cultivation in the United States, but the demand for farm products will steadily increase. This must make better prices for products and better prices for the land that produces them.

—It is well known that a few months ago P. F. Greenwood was shooting poisoned arrows into the vitals of the Populists, and his conversion to the idea of fusion came as a surprise to many who had heard him openly and violently assail the followers and principles of that party. His sudden conversion calls to mind a little circumstance that took place up at the Fort Madison school house, in Polk township, back in the 60's. A basket meeting was in progress, and during the services a well known tough from Kirksville got up and professed religion. When he made the profession a good old Baptist mother, who knew him, turned to a neighbor and shaking her head, said: "Too much fence down there to be put up so quick." And when we remember the vituperation and sarcasm Mr. Greenwood has hurled at the Populists, we think as did the old Baptist lady, there is too much fence down to be put up so quick. There must be a veiled profit in the conversion.

The Taylor Brothers Captured.

LITTLE ROCK, ARK, June 26th.—William Price Taylor and George Edward Taylor, wanted in Linn county, Mo., on the charge of the brutal murder of the Meeks family near Browning, the night of May 10, are now in this city in charge of J. C. South of Baxter county, who captured them at Buffalo City, in Marion county, last Saturday.

The two do not deny their identity, but declare their innocence. William P., who acts as spokesman for the two, said this morning: "We met Mr. South last Monday at Buffalo City, at the Hayes house, where we were stopping. He had evidently read of us and the terrible crime attributed to us and on Saturday last, while we were purchasing some shoes in Mr. Hayes's store, he asked us if we were not the Taylor brothers. We told him we were, when he placed us under arrest, and surrendered our pistols without any offer of resistance, and voluntarily accompanied him to this city. We are entirely guiltless of the crime with which we are charged and had intended leaving on a skiff for Batesville anyhow and returning home for trial. We hope to get bail and can give it, any sum—$50,000 if necessary. The murder of the Meeks family occurred on the night of May 10, and we learned the next day that we were suspected of it, and that a mob was after us and would lynch us if they caught us. We immediately sought safety in flight, expecting to return when the excitement died down.

THE SEARCHERS COMPLETELY OFF.—"We came to Springfield, Mo., where we spent three days and have been in Buffalo City for about a month. Yes, we have heard from home. We both have families whom we are anxious to see and get back to and make an honest living for. We have fared pretty well considering, have had enough to eat, although our clothes became somewhat worn with traveling over the mountains."

"We would not like to say who killed the Meeks family, if we knew," said W. P. Taylor, intimating that he might communicate some very interesting news if he felt so disposed. "We have heard some very important facts, or circumstances rather, since we left Browning. We might have been in irons and in jail had a sheriff or ordinary criminal hunter arrested us. But Mr. South has treated us handsomely and we will never forget it. He will accompany us and get the reward and I am glad of it. Sheriff Barton of Linn county is a good man too, and we will get fair treatment at his hands. There is $2,200 reward for us, $600 of which is offered by Governor Stone and the balance by friends of the Meeks family. The $600 Mr. South is sure to get, but I don't know so well about the remainder."

Sheriff Barton, of Linn county has gone to St. Louis to meet Mr. South who has the Taylor Brothers in charge, and will bring them to Linn county to-day and lodge them in jail. No fears of lynching are entertained.

It is gratifying to see how liberally the people of Kirksville have patronized their new school, the Conservatory of music and Languages. Though but one year old, in music proper over 120 pupils were enrolled, in the languages over 150. In the different studies over 200 pupils are counted. Professor Goldberg hopes to secure this summer a board of directors and then incorporate the Conservatory so that diplomas and degrees can be legally conferred. All of our good citizens, the business world in special, are kindly asked to double their patronage. It surely will pay our town. Professor Goldberg, teachers and pupils from abroad, have spent no less than $2,500 during the last year in Kirksville stores. Please concentrate your attention upon the Conservatory, as far as music is concerned, and you will benefit and be benefited.

Testimonials.

SANTA ROSA, CAL.,
Sept. 6, 1893.

I have known Prof. J. H. Scarborough for more than two years. During the last year, we have been intimately associated, having served together in the faculty of Pacific Methodist College. It gives me pleasure to testify to his merits as a teacher and a Christian gentleman. As the professor of mathematics in this institution for two years, he has not only evinced a thorough knowledge of the branches embraced in his department, but an aptness in imparting this knowledge to others. His career here has been eminently satisfactory to college officials, patrons and students. I regret that he finds it necessary to sever his connection with us. He leaves with the affectionate regard of teachers and pupils of this school. I cheerfully recommend him to school officials who may desire to secure the services of a good man.

J. S. AUSTIN,
President P. M. College.

NASHVILLE, TENN.,
April 30, 1894.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:—Mr. J. H. Scarborough, B. A., M. A., has spent two years as a graduate student in this University, during which time he has with the highest degree of satisfaction pursued courses in physics, particularly in the mathematical theory of electricity, and in practical laboratory work. It gives me great pleasure to state that Mr. Scarborough has proven himself to be eminently fitted, as well as qualified for teaching; and I am sure he would be a valuable acquisition to any faculty. JOHN DANIEL,
Adjunct Prof. of Physics.

It is harder to hunt for lost opportunities than to find new ones.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Spangler were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Kellogg Sunday.

W. F. Passwaters is making extensive repairs on his house.

The relatives of Mrs. Greenstreet gave her an elegant surprise birthday dinner at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. W. Hall Monday.

No Pugilistic Laurels.

E. R. Bartlett the big real estate loan and insurance dealer of Memphis, Mo., replying to certain squibs being quoted from the Gate City and Globe-Democrat of June 20, 1894, wherein a Memphis correspondent blows his own bugle, says: that while he (Bartlett) never indulges in twisting snake stories, to amuse "prayer meeting" audiences; nor engages in street brawls and pugilistic encounters (with their inevitable accompaniment of profanity and filth) to display his concentrated bravery or gratify the baser rabble, he may, occasionally, step on a dog's tail and make him howl, in order to get a good advertisement. And if the Howler dislikes the pinching process, he should be sensible enough to keep his nose out of other people's affairs, or his "tale" out of reach of the metallic heel of Bartlett's business interests.

He was elected and served as county judge two terms.

Canada Owenby was a man of firm convictions, and a believer in the Bible as a revelation from God. He held to the doctrines of the Bible as taught by the Baptists of the Old School. He was a genial, quiet man who won and retained the respect of all who knew him. Long has the writer known him, and he was ever the same, meeting you with a genial, bright smile which showed his happiness at meeting you and his good will toward you.

A very large procession of his friends attended the funeral and followed his remains to the grave.
